U.S. Ready to Test A-Weapon in Atmosphere

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. decision to resume testing of nuclear weapons in the atmosphere was described today as imminent. Informed sources spoke in terms of days or weeks, rather than months, of the time when they expect President Kennedy to give the signal.

While authorities said Kennedy has not yet made the final decision to go ahead with the tests, they expressed little doubt that he would, barring some major change in international conditions.

The impetus for a renewal of U.S. atmospheric tests after a three-year layoff stems from Russia's breaking the test moratorium last fall.

Western studies of more than 50 Russian atmospheric explosions indicate the Soviets made significant progress in triggering devices and in packing more explosive power into smaller warheads. U.S. strategists figure the West must keep its lead in nuclear arms as a deterrent against the Soviets starting a war.

The United States took a long step Friday toward preparation for the tests. The Pentagon announced a joint task force was being formed to arrange and conduct atmospheric bursts when and if Kennedy gives his approval.

Nov. 2 the President announced that the United States must prepare for the possibility of setting off above-ground nuclear blasts. Last week a joint statement by Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said that preparations should be pushed.

It was understood here that arrangements have been made with the British government for use of Christmas Island, a British-controlled island in the Pacific, as a base for atmospheric testing.

Since Russia scrapped the test moratorium, the United States has gone ahead with a series of underground shots of relatively small size, according to EC announcements, in which no fission debris was released into the atmosphere.

Says Faubus Opposition Backs Alford

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Democrat published today a report that Gov. Orval F. Faubus had said his "hard core" opposition in Pulaski County is getting behind Rep. Dale Alford for governor.

The Democrat quoted an unidentified friend as relaying the statement, reportedly made by Faubus shortly before he left for New Orleans and the Sugar Bowl game.

The newspaper said the friend quoted Faubus as saying: "They are pouring the telephone calls to Alford telling him that they couldn't support him for U.S. senator but they would support him for governor."

Hugh B. Patterson Jr., publisher of the Arkansas Gazette, was one of those mentioned by name in the Democrat's report.

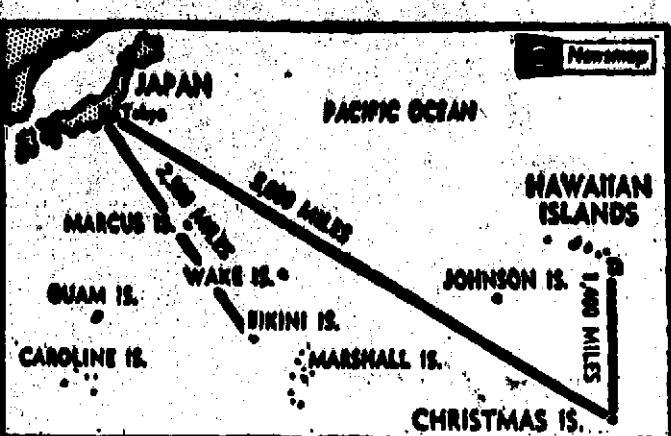

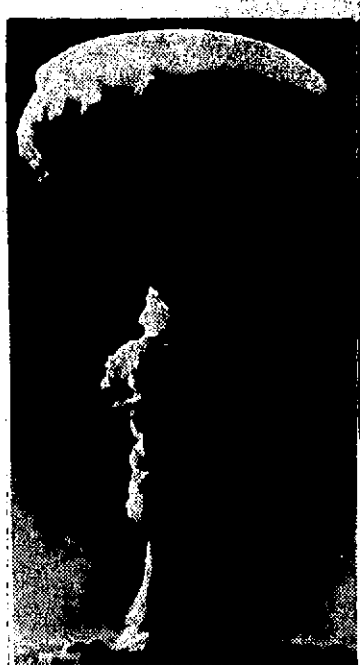

Patterson said the statement attributed to Faubus was "completely false and ludicrous" so far as he was concerned.

But as between Faubus and Alford, he said, "it is my fervent hope that I and my fellow Democrats will have an opportunity to vote for and support someone other than either of them."

The Rev. W. O. Vaughn, a Little Rock Baptist minister, also mentioned by name in the account, 7:00 p. m. report "has no foundation" where he was called.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT — A currently pending question in U.S.-British relations is Christmas Island in the Pacific. Both nations claim the 222-square-mile atoll. The island was the site of the first British hydrogen bomb explosion in 1957 (photo, left). The United States would like to use the island for its own nuclear explosions should it resume atmospheric testing. Christmas Island is twice as far from Tokyo as Bikini, location of previous U.S. H-bombs which Japan protested as posing a fallout danger to fishermen.

Missiles Are Captive Fired First Time

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A Titan II intercontinental ballistic missile—the kind that will be quartered in silos in central Arkansas—was captive-fired for the first time here Thursday.

An Air Force spokesman declared the test a success and said both airborne and ground equipment achieved all objectives.

The test was carried out at the Martin Marietta Corporation's Denver facilities. More than 400 separate components and systems were electrically monitored in the missile, the spokesman said.

The test proved successful not only for the flight vehicle, but for checkout and launch equipment built by Martin Marietta for the Titan II operational bases in Arkansas, Arizona and Kansas.

Construction of the bases in those three states is underway. The Titan II is 100 feet long and has a 530,000-pound thrust. It uses liquid propellants. It will be used as a booster to orbit a two-man Mercury capsule in a series of tests of rendezvous techniques in space.

Officials said Titan II will require a minimum launch crew in its sites in the three states. The control equipment will perform all necessary functions to check out and launch the weapon system, with the crew needed only to start the operation and act as troubleshooters.

Charges U.S. Army Had to Participate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., said today he has requested the Defense Department to investigate complaints that troops were compelled under threat of reprisals to take part in the filming of a motion picture about the D-day landings in Normandy.

Ervin said in a statement that he would not presume to pass judgment on the matter until he has received a complete report from the Pentagon.

He said, however, that complaints he had received told of soldiers being threatened with unpleasant consequences if they did not participate in the filming of Darryl F. Zanuck's "The Longest Day."

"The Constitution gives Congress the power to raise armies for the defense of the United States, not for participation in private commercial ventures," Ervin said.

An aide to Ervin said complaints had been received from soldiers stationed at Rochefort, France. He said they were in a supply group used to assist in the operation rather than among the troops actually in the filming of the motion picture.

Same Ambulance Served Both

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP)—The same ambulance that brought her husband home from the hospital went back to the hospital Thursday night with Hazel Coburn, 69. Mrs. Coburn, rushing outside to greet her husband, Robert, 70, slipped, fell and broke her hip. She was taken to St. Anthony's Hospital where her husband had undergone treatment for an illness.

Had Some Help

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Police questioning two boys about a typewriter the pair stole asked whether removing the machine from the store had been difficult. "Oh, no, one of the clerks held the door open for us," was the response.

Two More Banks Up Interest

CONWAY (AP)—Conway's two banks today joined the growing list of Arkansas banking houses which are increasing interest rates on savings. The new rates will be 3 1/2 per cent on savings and 4 per cent on time deposits, the maximum permitted under a new federal banking directive.

Denies Giving Military Aid to Katanga

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The Union Miniere du Haut Katanga denied today allegations by U.S. and U.N. officials that it gave military assistance to the Katanga secession and challenged anyone to give evidence to support the accusations.

A communiqué released by headquarters of the vast African mining complex in Brussels said: "Mahmoud Khari, director of the U.N. civil operations in the Congo, has charged Union Miniere with serious accusations in an interview with the Jeune Afrique magazine in Tunis."

"The U.S. State Department, through G. Mennen Williams and Carl T. Rowan, has also made statements concerning the political and military activities of the Union Miniere."

"The Union Miniere, which has already denied similar accusations made previously, faced with continuous attacks, once more denies in the strongest way that it indulged in political, military or propaganda activities, and namely that it supplied arms or made bombs or any other war equipment."

Rowan, deputy assistant secretary of state for public affairs, said in a speech in Philadelphia Wednesday that Michael Struelsen, a former Belgian civil servant with headquarters in New York, spent at least $140,000 this year to spread pro-Katanga propaganda.

On Thursday night, in New York, Struelsen denied he had spent any such sum to spread Katanga propaganda.

Williams, assistant secretary of state for African affairs, declared in a speech in Detroit that "there never has been any legal, moral or other basis" for Katanga's existence as a separate Congo state.

A report circulated Thursday at the United Nations charged that the Union Miniere complex allowed its installations to be used for attacks against U.N. personnel in Elizabethville.

Father, Son Die in Accident

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP)—A father and his 10-year-old son were killed today when their automobile collided with a runaway trailer near here.

The victims were Ike Williams Sr., of Paragould and Joe Williams.

The accident occurred when a trailer came loose from a pickup truck and car and trailer collided. A daughter, 19-year-old Carolyn Williams, was injured.

Scene of the accident was Highway 1 about four miles south of Paragould.

Ford Almanac Honors Arkansan

DALLAS (AP)—E. E. Swindle of (Jefferson County), Ark., Moscow, was honored by the Ford Motor Co. today as an outstanding farmer.

The company said Swindle's accomplishments as a cotton grower would be featured in the 1962 Ford Almanac.

Outbursts Designed to Scare Reds

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet propaganda outbursts against the United States and West Germany have stepped up in recent weeks to a point where diplomats here believe they are intended more for scaring the Soviets than annoying the West.

The highest point in the campaign was reached with the demand that Gen. Adolf Heusinger, West German chairman of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's military committee, be sent to Moscow for trial as a war criminal.

Heusinger is stationed in Washington. The Soviets unquestionably knew in advance the United States would never surrender him, but the demand for his extradition triggered off an attack on the conduct of German armies during World War II that continues almost daily.

Red Star, the military service's official newspaper, has been running daily war horror pictures of hangings of Soviet partisans, trenches filled with bodies and still others of partisans lined up to be shot by firing squads.

Normally this sort of preparatory propaganda in the Soviet Union precedes almost every international negotiation, such as the one expected early next year over the German situation. It is "piped abroad to help prepare the atmosphere for the conference and indicate how stern the Soviet position will be."

But much of the present propaganda is not distributed abroad. It is published in newspapers and carried still more on television.

The supposition in West German and American quarters here is that the propaganda is intended to reactivate suspicion of Americans along with the Germans, not only among the Soviet people but also among European members of the North Atlantic alliance who were World War II victims of the Nazis.

Attacks on the Kennedy administration appear intermittently—not so frequently in newspapers but continually in some magazines.

At no point this year has the Soviet vituperation against the Americans reached the heights of 1960 following the U2 incident and bustup of the Paris summit conference. But as the year ends it appears building up.

U. S. Report on Flu Epidemic

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The influenza epidemic at Potosi, Mo., was caused by type B influenza, the U.S. Public Health Service in St. Louis reports.

Dr. George S. Cresswell, Washington County health officer, said laboratory tests showed that seven out of nine of the Potosi flu cases were type B.

The epidemic began in Potosi about Dec. 13 and swept through the entire county in 10 days, affecting an estimated 60 to 70 per cent of the families. Since then, St. Louis, Jefferson City and other areas have suffered similar outbreaks.

The PHS described type B influenza as a common strain that usually recurs in a four to six-year cycle.

Asian flu is an A type, which generally strikes every two to three years.

Nips Off Finger

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A large Himalayan bear nipped off the tip of a girl's right index finger at Audubon Park Zoo.

Police said Rose Marie Copper-Smith, 16, told them she climbed over a three-foot fence around the cage Thursday to feed the bear popcorn.

Red Officials Barred From West Berlin

By JOHN FIEHN

BERLIN (AP)—The Soviet commandant in Berlin and his top political advisor have been barred from the city's American sector in reprisal for Red moves to keep U.S. officials out of East Berlin.

The action announced by the U.S. mission here today marks the first time in Berlin's postwar history that a Russian commandant has been banned from the Western sector of the divided city.

The U.S. move was aimed at forcing the Soviets to make the satellite East German Communist regime remove curbs on the movement of Americans in the Red-ruled portion of the divided city.

A U.S. spokesman said the Soviets were informed Wednesday of the bar. Since then, there has been no attempt by the Soviet commandant, Col. Andrei I. Solov'yev, to enter West Berlin.

The only crossing point officially assigned to him by the East Germans is at Friedrichstrasse's International Checkpoint Charlie on the border of the Soviet and American sectors.

Solov'yev and his political advisors thus are virtually barred from all of West Berlin. They could enter through the British or French sectors, but this would violate the rules of their own East German satellite.

Two incidents at Checkpoint Charlie last week touched off the American action.

The U.S. commander, Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, canceled an appointment at Soviet headquarters in East Berlin after East German border guards refused to let three aides in civilian clothes across the border without identification.

Two days before the Watson incident, Howard Trivers, executive political officer of the U.S. mission in Berlin, was stopped by East Germans at the crossing point because he refused to identify himself. He, too, was on his way to Soviet headquarters.

Thinks East, West Talks to Be Early

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said today he is convinced East-West negotiations on the Berlin crisis will take place early in 1962 and no war will break out in the coming year.

The 65-year-old chancellor emphasized West Germany's willingness to enter into negotiations with the Soviet Union and claimed no big difference exists between its attitude and that of the other Western Allies, including France.

Adenauer expressed confidence that Soviet Premier Khrushchev will show caution on his side toward the dangerous Berlin situation for fear that a different policy might bring on an all-out war that would destroy his own country.

"Khrushchev has grasped that he must exercise self-control," Adenauer said.

The chancellor sized up the coming year in an interview with the semi-official publication, the "Politisch-Soziale Korrespondenz." His answers added up to perhaps the most significant declarations he has made on foreign policy since his recent meetings with President Kennedy and French President Charles de Gaulle.

He said West Germany's objective in negotiating will be to obtain new guarantees for the maintenance of the freedom of Berlin, of free access to it, and the removal of the Communist-built wall now dividing the city.

Adenauer maintained all the Western Allies are agreed that negotiations will come.

"The only questions are over the timing and the preliminary conditions."

Former Resident of Hope Dies

Mrs. Floy Hicks Gilbert, 50, died Friday in an Exeter, Calif. hospital. She was the daughter of the late Marcus L. Hicks of Hope and a teacher in the Tulare Union High School of Tulare, Calif.

Survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Gerald J. Giffier of California and Mrs. W. M. Thompson of Redlands, La. and a brother, Henry C. Hicks of Houston.

Services have been tentatively set for 2:30 p.m. Tuesday at Hernando-Cornelius Chapel. Burial will be in Snell Cemetery.

There's Lots and Lots of Advice and Surprisingly Some of it Proves Good

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Resolutions for the future and reflections of the past usually collide with one another in the minds of people at this time of year. Your Inquiring Reporter didn't want to pry too far into either direction, but some local citizens were asked about good advice they had once received that might prove as beneficial to others as it had to them.

It is so much easier to give advice than to take it that it is also interesting to note the kind of person who gave the good advice. Our question was "What was the best advice you ever received and who gave it to you?"

MRS. HENRY HAYNES: "After reflecting on good things I have been told by many people, my mother's quotation of a Biblical passage takes precedence over them all. It is 'Commit they way unto the Lord and He shall direct thy path.'"

GAIRLAND MEDDERS: "The district manager of a power company, where I worked as a very young man, told me, 'If you have the opportunity to complete something, do it now as well as you possibly can. Don't put it aside and come back to it later.' He was an inherently honest and fair man whom I respected as I did his advice."

MRS. A. L. PARK: "These troubled times are not anything new, and I am reminded of what my father always said in the way of advice, 'Don't go looking for trouble. Enough of it will find its way to you without my help. I'll always remember that as some of the best advice ever received.'"

PAUL RALEY: "In my home town in southern Missouri a business man gave me some sage advice about friendship. 'If your friends are too close to you, they are sometimes too few in number. There is no such thing as too many friends, so avoid becoming too intimate with any of them.'"

MRS. ERNEST GRAHAM: "To help me overcome an inferiority complex as a child, my father told me to smile and speak to people. If I would make it a habit, I'd soon see that by being friendly first to them people are usually friendly in return. I've tried it for years, and it works."

GEORGE FRAZIER: "The best advice ever given to me was given vicariously by Plutarch. 'Know how to listen, and you will profit even from those who talk badly.' The trouble with most of us is that we're so busy thinking of something to say next that we fail to hear what the other person is trying to get across to us."

MRS. HASKELL JONES: "The advice which made the most lasting impression on me came when I joined the Lutheran Church as a child and the pastor admonished us to lead a Christian life. It was much more than mere words, and I realized the deep significance of my vows due to this minister's previous instructions to the confirmation class."

Memphis to File Price-Tax Suit

MEMPHIS (AP)—The City-owned Light, Gas and Water Division has been authorized to file a million dollar suit against eight Memphis cement companies fined for price fixing.

The complaint will charge that the firms violated the Anti-Trust Act through price fixing and overcharged the division for materials it bought from them.

W. R. Moyers, administrative director, said the materials purchased from the companies during a period dating back to 1955 would total "well over a million dollars."

Moyers said the division had not estimated how much the overcharge would be but plans to ask for treble damages.

In 1960, the eight firms pleaded no defense after being indicted on charges of violating the Sherman Act.

The city filed a similar complaint against the firms last October asking that they be forced to return $50,000.

Pollack Resigns GOP Position

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Republican State committee announced today the approaching resignation of Harry Pollack of Fort Smith as state party treasurer.

A statement said Pollack was resigning for personal reasons but had agreed to serve until a successor is elected at the next called meeting of the state committee. Pollack has been treasurer for eight years.

Big Iceberg Off Coast of U. S.

SALEM, Mass. (AP)—A 300-foot iceberg has been located in the Atlantic, 250 miles southeast of Salem and between the two major shipping lanes to Europe.

The iceberg was seen Thursday by Coast Guard Capt. Ross P. Bullard, a member of the International Ice Patrol, who was flown to the scene after the berg had been reported by a Navy plane.

The Coast Guard said it was the first time an iceberg has drifted so far south in December to menace navigation since 1917.

If it reaches the Gulf Stream it is believed it will melt rapidly. The International Ice Patrol struck an iceberg and sank off Newfoundland in 1912 with a loss of 1,500 lives.

Identity of Dead Man Established

JASPER, Ala. (AP)—Tennessee State Prison records from 1929 have led to the apparent identity of a man killed in a traffic accident here Christmas Day.

Sheriff Brummer Nix said the victim has been tentatively identified as Boyd Minnick, 61, of Eldridge, Tenn. He said relatives of Minnick from Union City, Tenn., and Blytheville, Ark., are on route to make a positive identification.

Nix said Minnick was arrested here on a loitering charge this month and released on Dec. 23.

A then unknown man was struck and killed by a car on U.S. 70 near here early Christmas morning. Aside from clothing, the man's only possession was a coin purse with some change in it.

Nix said when Minnick was released from jail he had $60 in bills in a billfold.

Efforts to establish the identity led first to Florida where it was learned Minnick may have been from Lawrenceburg, Tenn. The sheriff there had no information on persons by that name.

Nix then called the Tennessee Prison at Nashville and found that Boyd Minnick was released from that prison on Jan. 28, 1929. The prison description listed a scar on the left side of the head and one on the lower left arm.

Nix said the scar on the arm had been found earlier but it was not until he talked with prison officials that he checked and found a small head scar that corresponded with the prison identification.

Shelters Have to Give Real Protection

WASHINGTON (AP)—In order to get Pentagon approval, a commercially built fallout shelter must offer a person 100 times more protection than he would have out in the open.

That was one of a list of minimum requirements issued Thursday by the Civil Defense office for shelter manufacturers and contractors seeking government approval for their designs.

Each design that meets minimum standards will receive a Civil Defense serial number.

"The purpose of the technical requirements," said the office, "is to establish official standards which will provide the basis for effective family shelter designs. Minor modifications to suit local building codes may be necessary."

The standards were set forth in two memoranda. One details standards of space, ventilation and basic structural requirements; construction details for fire resistance, radiation shielding and blast resistance measures; water supply, sanitation and other essential services.

The second requires that all plans submitted for approval carry supporting data prepared by registered engineers or architects.

The Defense Department said about $600 shelter designs already submitted for review will have to be restudied.

Soldier Disappears

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A U.S. soldier stationed in Saigon has disappeared and is feared kidnapped, authorities here reported today. He was last seen Christmas morning.

DeGaulle Act Brings Right Wing Rioting

By JOSEPH E. DYMAN

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle's determination to pull the bulk of the French army out of Algeria and make peace with the revolt-scared territory as an independent nation threatened today to touch off violent new protests from European richards.

Riots erupted Friday night in Oran as soon as De Gaulle finished outlining his plans over radio and TV. French troops, who have often sided with the European settlers in the past, moved in swiftly to put down the riots.

Two young men and a French marine were killed.

De Gaulle repeated his determination to come to terms with the Algerian nationalists in a year-end report to the people. The right-wing secret Army Organization jammed his broadcast in Oran.

Plastic bombs—favorite weapon of the right-wing richards crippled or shook radio and TV relay towers at Bordeaux, Toulouse, Nimes and Toulon in France. Bombs also went off in the Algerian city of Oustanline.

The French President's announcement that the French army would be withdrawn from Algeria—"in any case"—was a severe blow to the Europeans in Algeria who have looked to the army for political as well as military support throughout the eight-year nationalist rebellion.

In Algiers Europeans felt cut off. Their statements boiled down to a feeling that now they were on their own.

But De Gaulle's pledge was taken as a sign of good faith by the Algerian nationalist leadership in Tunis. Rebel representatives have been reported engaged in secret contacts with the French for the past few weeks to lay the groundwork for a formal settlement.

De Gaulle said that "once the fighting ended, France would cooperate with 'a sovereign and independent Algerian state provided that France's essential interests are guaranteed for what she would be giving.' He said he then would foresee "fertile relations" between France and all of North Africa.

Nigeria Forgets Card Incident

NEW YORK (AP)—Nigeria seems to have forgotten this year's post card incident and is asking for more Peace Corps members, Corps Director Sargent Shriver said Wednesday. Shriver told a new group of 30 corps members—headed for Lagos, Nigeria—that the Marjorie Michelmore incident did not have the dire consequences for the corps that some had predicted. Miss Michelmore of Foxboro, Mass., wrote a post card criticizing Nigerian living conditions. It was found and published, resulting in a demonstration there. Shriver said the new group will bring Nigeria's Peace Corps total to 110, but that the country has asked for 345.

Looking at TV During New Year

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—We'll soon start on a brave new year. And what's in store for television viewers in 1962? Probably not much that is very different from 1961, but this dreamer wishes it would be the year when:
The reporter-type heroes of "Follow the Sun" and "Target: The Corrupters" sit down at a typewriter and actually pound out a story.
Toddy and Muldoon of "Car 54, Where Are You?" are taken out of their prowl car and returned to pounding a beat.
The housewife picks the pile of laundry washed by Brand X as the whitest.
Chet Huntley forgets to chuckle and say "Good night, David," at the end of the broadcast.
Perry Mason gets hailed before the bar association for suborning a witness.
Bob Hope and company do a sketch without breaking up at some inside joke.
A child who was one of the losers in the toothpaste test explains that, although he got a lot of cavities, the paste he used tasted great.
Well, one can dream, can't one? Howard K. Smith has finally alighted, with Mike and typewriter, at ABC as a member of vice president Jim Hagerty's expanding news staff. Smith, who quit CBS recently in a dispute over his freedom to comment, will soon start a weekly half-hour program of news and analysis on Wednesday nights, 7:30-8 (Eastern Standard Time).
Saturday—Blue and Gray All Star Football game, NBC, 1:40 conclusion— from Montgomery, Ala.
Sunday—National Football League championship, Green Bay Packers vs. New York Giants, NBC, 1:45 conclusion; "Meet the Press," NBC, 6:30-8; Allen Dulles former director of the CIA, guest, "Highways of Melody," NBC, 10:11—with Jane Morgan and Gordon MacRae; New Year's Eve shows, CBS and NBC, 11:15-12:15—with music by, respectively, Guy Lombardo and Xavier Cugat.
Monday—Tournament of Roses parade, CBS and NBC, 11:30 a.m. 1:45 p.m.; Orange Bowl football game, ABC, 12:40 conclusion; Cotton Bowl football game, CBS, 1:45 conclusion; Sugar Bowl football game, NBC, 1:45 conclusion; Rose Bowl football game, NBC, 1:45 conclusion.

McClintock May Go to Argentina
WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert McClintock, 52, member of the State Department's powerful policy planning council and veteran diplomat, is reported to have been chosen as U.S. ambassador to Argentina.

Although press secretary Pierre Salinger said he had not heard of the appointment, the Argentine Foreign Office in Buenos Aires announced it had approved McClintock.

The job in Buenos Aires has been vacant for months since Ambassador Roy R. Rubottom was shifted to State Department adviser at the Navy War College, Newport, R.I.

High Cost of Hilarity Is Even Higher

By FRANCES STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP)—The high cost of hilarity will run even higher in many places this New Year's Eve. And for celebrators in several states there will be some headaches even before the day after.

Blue laws forbid liquor sales in parts of the nation—creating many a dry oasis on New Year's Eve, Sunday night.
In some of these places, restaurants and nightclubs will serve dinner Sunday night and then begin serving drinks at 12:01 a.m. Monday. Others figure it isn't worth the trouble.

States in which Blue Laws apply in full or in part include Washington, Maine, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Nebraska, Minnesota, Michigan and Missouri.
But as the nation welcomes the New Year there will be observances of many types, depending on the pocketbook or persuasion of the participants.

Thousands of churches across the country will throw open their doors for traditional and ever-popular watch night services. And prayers will be offered for peace in a world torn by strife and misunderstanding.
Millions of families will spend New Year's Eve at their hearthside. Others will join friends for private parties in homes, clubs and hotels.

New Year's Day will bring other activities, such as football games and other sports events.
New Year's Eve party prices will range up to around $85 per person in the better known nightclubs and restaurants in the country's major cities. This usually includes dinner, noise makers, funny hats and confetti, but not the drinks.

Thus a fellow and his wife or girl friend had better be chaperoned by a $100 bill, or the equivalent thereof, and probably more. The drinks aren't cheap in such spots.

Airman Killed in Auto Wreck

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—A 21-year-old airman was killed early today when his car went out of control and overturned on a curve about 14 miles south of here on Highway 1.

He was Morelton M. Clampt of Jonesboro.
State Police said Harlie Blalock, 25, of Brookland, near Jonesboro, a passenger in the car, was injured, but apparently not seriously.

Resigns ESD Job

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—William Watkins, 70, whom figured in a federal Hatch Act investigation this year, is resigning his Employment Security Division job, effective Feb. 1. An examiner recommended that Watkins and two others be dismissed for soliciting funds for Gov. Orval E. Faubus' 1960 campaign. A final order has not been made by the federal Civil Service Commission.

Efforts for Laos Union Collapse

By RENE-GEORGES INAGAKI
VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Another attempt to convene a meeting of Laos' three political princes to form a coalition government collapsed today.

Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao, left Vientiane for his rebel stronghold in the Plaine des Jarres, but a spokesman said new attempts turn to the Plaine des Jarres after conference at a later date.

"It has to be done," the Pathet Lao spokesman told newsmen.
Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, designated to head the proposed unity government, gave no indication whether he would also leave or whether he would remain and try to negotiate with Prince Boun Oum, the head of the conservative, pro-Western royal government in Vientiane.

Souphanouvong decided to return to the Plaine des Jarres after Boun Oum for the third day refused to sit down, with the other two princes for joint talks on allocation of the posts in a neutralist coalition government.

The three Laotian princes dined amicably together Thursday night Souvanna said then the atmosphere was "excellent" at the party but he reported no progress toward opening of negotiations.

Soviet and Polish diplomats suggested privately that the next meeting be held in Geneva, where the rival princes would be under the direct influence of the 14 nations which are negotiating to prevent resumption of open warfare in Laos between Boun Oum's Western-backed army and the Communist-supported forces of Souphanouvong and of Souvanna Phouma.

Souvanna and Souphanouvong arrived in Vientiane Wednesday for their first meeting in two months with Boun Oum to discuss allocation of the posts in the coalition government. All had agreed Souvanna would head. But Boun Oum gave the two other princes the brush-off, accused Souvanna of not being truly neutral and demanded government posts for his faction which the other two were certain to refuse.

Western diplomats were appalled by the unexpected turn, but Souvanna took a conciliatory tone Thursday. And Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, a staunch anti-Communist who is considered the backbone of Boun Oum's government, arranged Thursday night's dinner party.

The U.S. Embassy was believed to have brought considerable pressure on Boun Oum to get him to the dinner. But afterward Souvanna would only say that the rancor was "subsiding" and that "at least there is more hope than on the first day."

Jet Crash Is Narrowly Averted

MONTICELLO, Ark. (AP)—The crash of an Air Force jet trainer was narrowly averted Thursday night after the plane's navigation instruments went out and the aircraft ran low on fuel.

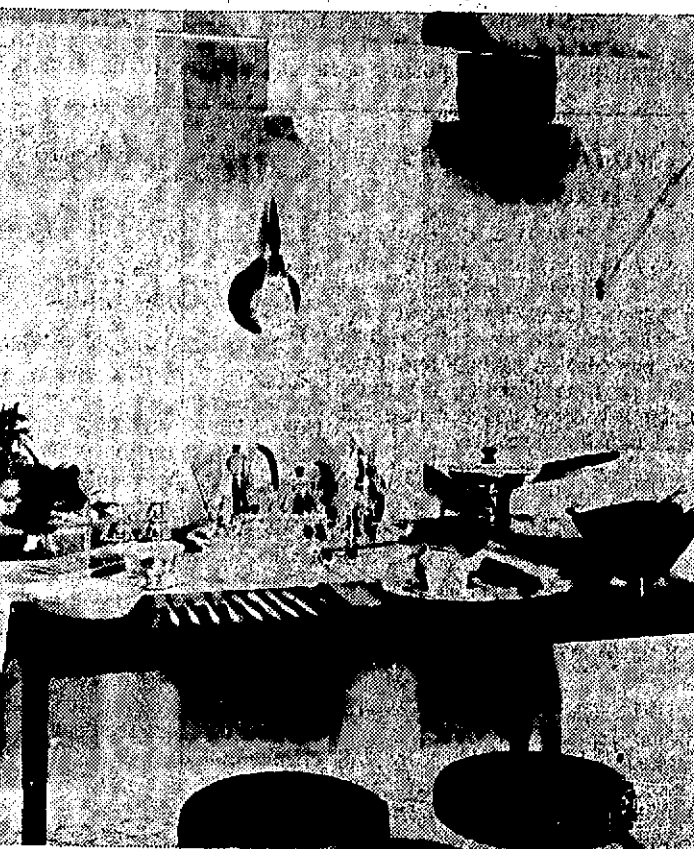

Lt. Col. James Warren, the pilot, and Lt. Col. P. A. Bell, said they were preparing to bail out near El Dorado when they spotted the lighted runway here.

They made a forced landing without incident.
Officials said the T33 jet made a perfect landing on the 4,000 foot runway. A 5,000 foot runway normally is required to land one of the planes.

The jet was on a flight plan from Chennault Air Force Base, La., to Little Rock Air Force Base. The Monticello Airport is unattended at night, but the runway lights and a beacon remain on. Air Force officials said a C47 cargo plane and a flight instructor from Lake Charles, La., were to pick up the plane today.

The teen-ager who wants to face the coming year with confidence will do something about skin blemishes. This teen-ager uses medicated pads to help clear up minor blemishes.

Bright colors, modern tableware and furniture add sparkle to this tiny model dining area setting. Yellow shade cloth is shaped, fringed and draped canopy-fashion over a Scandinavian table set with blue and yellow linens, silver flatware and Argente-patterned china. The smorgasbord tidbits are served from wood platters and a silver chafing dish.

DOROTHY DIX Teen-Ager Speaks Up

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: You said in reply to a recent letter from D. S., "Bravo for one teen-ager who knows what she wants and where she is going!" I take that as a back-handed swipe at all teen-agers, and being one myself, resent it. Most teens know where they are going by the time they reach 16. I am a boy 14 but I have set my goal, teaching, and am working toward it. I take courses in high school with this in mind.

But I have a problem. I can speak up to you but fear to stick up for my rights at home. If I have a date with a friend to bowl, at the last minute Mother wants me to watch the baby or vacuum. I have already done my chores for the day plus extra work to compensate for time spent at the bowling alley but I lack the courage to tell her. Instead I call off the bowling date.

Here is another evidence of weakness on my part: I don't receive an allowance and I am too young to get a job. My parents say they will give me money if I spend it wisely, meaning not on candy and stuff, but they seldom do.

Here it is the holidays, I took what little I had saved to buy Christmas presents with the result I have no money to go bowling, yet I am afraid to ask for it. Why?—V. R. Junior

Dear Junior: Some people can express themselves more forcefully on paper than in person, that is why it is easier for you to communicate with me than with your parents. Try writing instead of talking to them about your problem. If you do it half as well as you did in your letter to me, they will get the point. Speak up!

Dear Helen: I am a 17-year-old boy in my last year at high school and think I know the fears, hopes and needs and dreams of teen-agers better than you. I realize that parents must protect their children but the kids are pretty mature by the time they are 17 or 18 and should be treated as people not infants. If they are not they will grow up hating their parents.

Let them use the telephone within reason, say 15 minutes per call; date outside the home instead of limiting their social activities to silly things like candy making, and trust them to do right. If they have been properly reared, they will.

A girl who is forced by her mother to date boy friends at home and whose activities are limited to candy making and games, won't have any dates. Every boy will consider her an odd ball. Don't get me wrong. All I ask is freedom within reason for teens who are no longer babies.—Bill Good

Dear Bill: I can't go along with you any more than I can with Junior who claims that teen-agers know where they are going. All too often they don't and as a result remain adolescent. However, I feel that in most cases it is the parents not the youngsters who are at fault. If they reared their children properly—and you yourself used that qualifying clause—youthsters would know what they want. Being a parent is a 24-hour a day job. It means being mentor, father-confessor, nursemaid, provider and pal.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine care of this newspaper. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "How to Get Along with an Adolescent."

Justice Dept. Challenges La. Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department announced filing of a suit in federal court in New Orleans, La., challenging validity of Louisiana's constitutional interpretation test for prospective voters.

Att. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the complaint was the department's first challenge of the constitutionality of a state voting law.

Several federal cases have been brought previously challenging administration of state voting laws in specific counties.

Today's action declares Louisiana's interpretation test has been used to discriminate against Negroes seeking to register to vote and should be declared unconstitutional.

Under the test, it was explained, a prospective voter is shown a section from the 300-page constitution and is asked to interpret its meaning. The government said answers given by the Negroes were judged incorrect.

Bomb Scare Brings Evacuation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Immigration and Naturalization Service Building in downtown Washington was evacuated today because of a bomb threat.

A Justice Department spokesman said police were told the threat was received by telephone by a man speaking with a Spanish accent.

After the building was emptied of 400 to 500 persons, police searched it for an hour but found no trace of a bomb.

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the second day in a row, a bomb threat caused evacuation today of the Immigration and Naturalization Service building in downtown Washington.

An anonymous caller telephoned police that a bomb would be set off in the building at 10 a.m. Thirty-five minutes after this deadline, police were still searching the building without finding any trace of explosives.

The 350 employees were dismissed from the building, but officials said they would be recalled at 12:30 p.m. if no bomb was found.

A similar telephone call, by a man with a Spanish accent, was received by police Thursday, causing immigration officials to dismiss employees for the day at 11:15 a.m.

That caller told police he planned to blow up the building because "You will not admit my brother."

Police said today's threat apparently came from the same caller, who said he was going to try again because he failed Thursday.

Return From Space Could Be Real Hot

By JOHN BARBOUR Associated Press Science Editor

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A man returning from the moon faces a blazing barrier up to 90,000 degrees hot when his rocket ship plunges into the earth's atmosphere, a scientist said today.

Most of the hot air rushing by the ship as it plunges into the earth's atmosphere ranges between 18,000 and 27,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

But even these temperatures are several times hotter than the surface of the sun, said Peter H. Rose, principal research scientist for the Avco Everett Research Laboratory at Everett, Mass.

A ship returning from the moon is traveling at a speed of about 36,000 feet per second, Rose said. This is faster than either returning satellites or ballistic missiles which travel between 20,000 and 25,000 feet per second at reentry.

A shock wave forms ahead of the reentering rocket—and this shock wave heats the air up to 90,000 degrees Fahrenheit. Air in front of the rocket glows with a bright white light.

This heated air radiates heat back to the rocket—and other heated air rushes by the rocket, heating the ship by direct contact. Rose told a meeting of the American Astronautical Society, part of the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

No One Can Tells If She Will Wait

By RENE-GEORGES INAGAKI
VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The little tribeswoman in her black turban and black velvet dress intensely watched every man getting off the shiny silver C46, then buried her face again into her hands.

She came at 6 a.m. with her bundles neatly tied, and sat at the foot of the control tower at Vientiane's military airport.

Patiently, she sat through the day scrutinizing every one of the twin-engine American planes as they landed, kicking up a storm of thick yellow dust.

When the sun set, and the last plane had returned from its mission of supplying Lao government troops scattered in the mountains, she picked up her bundles and went to a nearby barracks to cook her food and spend the night on the hard floor.

"I have seen her sitting at the foot of the tower now every day for three weeks," an American pilot said.

"I asked her through an interpreter if she wanted a ride. But she said no. She was waiting for her husband to come and fetch her back to the mountains."

Her husband is a Meo tribe soldier fighting on the side of the government against the Pathet Lao. His young wife is one of the 2,000 dependents evacuated to Vientiane as the Meos were hard-pressed in their mountain habitat by the Pathet Lao.

Many want to go back to their hills and husbands.

No one can tell how much longer the patient little woman will have to wait.

Failed to Get House for Astronaut

WASHINGTON (AP)—A White House aide said today Rep. Frank W. Boykin, D-Ala., tried without success to have President Kennedy arrange the gift of a new house to astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr.

The house, to cost "not less than $25,000," was to be built in a Waldorf, Md., development in which Boykin and a once-convicted real estate developer are invested financially.

The developer is J. Kenneth Edlin, who was sentenced to 4 years in prison in 1944 for mail and securities fraud and this month pleaded no contest to a mail fraud indictment involving a Maryland savings and loan firm.

Kennedy never saw Boykin's telegram sent on May 6, the day after Shepard's space flight. A White House staff member said Shepard declined the gift when sounded out on Boykin's proposal.

The staff aide, Wayne Hawks, told a reporter in Palm Beach, Fla., that the matter was handled "routinely" by the White House. The Boykin telegram was referred to Shepard's lawyer, Hawks said, and the lawyer replied a few days later that the astronaut was not inclined to accept the gift. The White House so notified Boykin.

Leo C. De Orsey, Washington attorney who has represented Shepard and other U.S. astronauts, confirmed the Boykin telegram had been referred to him.

Hawks and De Orsey spoke in response to inquiries resulting from a story published in the Washington Post which said Boykin was trying to enlist the prestige of the President and Shepard to promote the housing development.

Edlin's name has figured prominently in recent official inquiries into Maryland savings and loan operations.

An effort was made to reach Boykin for comment at Mobile, Ala., but he could not be reached immediately.

Please Pass

WINTER PARK, Fla. (AP)—Pass Motorists who hesitate to pass low-moving police cars have been invited to do so by signs placed in cruisers in Winter Park.

The signs read: "Slow-moving patrol car. Please pass."

Police Chief Carl Buchanan said the signs should contribute to traffic safety by preventing long lines of cars forming behind vehicles.

TIRE AUTOPSY—Resembling a rubber water lily, this tire has been cut up for study after being subjected to rigorous tests at Detroit Arsenal. The tire was run for 48 hours with inside temperature at 100 degrees to test endurance.

STUCK IN A BIG HOLE—Tallest man-made structure in Oregon is the Thomas Creek bridge near Brookings. Steel support towers rise 350 feet above the stream bed. The span is 957 feet long and relocates a state highway route.

LADIES' AID—Armed South Vietnamese women volunteers stand at attention to hear speech in Saigon. The women's corps will be trained to help their menfolk defend the nation against threatening Communist-led guerrillas.

SUPER-DUPER SCOOPER—Newest farm gadget is this self-propelled viner for harvesting lima beans. Operating at Santa Maria, Calif., in the fields of farmer Earl Eisner, in hat, the viner's endless belt raises the entire bean plant into a cylinder behind the driver. There the beans are beaten out of the pods for hauling to nearby freezing plants.

State Gamblers Paid $155,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arkansas gamblers paid $155,000 in federal wagering excise taxes last fiscal year. The national total was $6,692,000.
Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky were first, second and third in that order in amount of tax paid.
Indiana gamblers paid $259,000, Illinois $244,000 and Kentucky $763,000 in the 10 per cent excise taxes, the Internal Revenue Service reported.
Texas paid $243,000, Louisiana $321,000 and Oklahoma $97,000.

The Road to the Snail

By WILLIAM P. MCGIVERN

THE STORY: Dennis Campbell, an Englishman, and John Martin, an American, are calling on the Marquessa concerning a proposed road past the Snail. Campbell has rented the villa with the understanding that a road would be built. Now the project seems far in the future and Campbell's holiday is to end in three months.

Chapter VI
The Marquessa greeted us warmly. "It's so nice of you to surprise me this way." She smiled directly at Dennis and put out her hand. "And this is Mr. Campbell, my new neighbor. I must apologize for not seeing you the other times you were kind enough to stop by. I must have been caught up in something or other."

"Yes, yes of course," Dennis said. "Stupid of me to just pop by, in any case. I might have sent a note."

"Oh, we're not that formal here. Now! Neither of you has a drink. What would you like?"

"It doesn't matter; a touch of sherry will do nicely."

"Sherry for me, too. I can't manage whisky and gin in the daytime."

"You're a poor excuse for an American, isn't he, Mr. Campbell?"

"I imagine he's some sort of agent sent abroad to counteract the notion that Americans drink too much."

"When we had our drinks the Marquessa hooked an arm companionably through Dennis's and said: 'Let's sit in the shade. Terry tells me you have something to discuss with me. Is that right?'"

"Yes, but it's not pressing."

"Francesca Encarna Louisa Isabella Douglas de Palma was of Italian lineage. She had been educated in Spain, Switzerland and England, and had been married early to a Scots lord who had been killed in a naval action in the North Sea during World War II. A complete list of her names and titles would cover a half-page of typing paper, but she was usually called Francesca by friends, and always Terry Marquessa by people of the village."

She was about 35, a supple and elegant creature with baffling direct brown eyes and thick, sun-speckled blonde hair. There was a suggestion of northern Italy in her fine confident nose, but everything else was southern Spain, a blend of eagerness and reserve, of propriety and abandon."

That was the secret of the excitement she projected. I believe, a sense of passion held in check by a delightfully untrustworthy body of a nature balanced and delicately and demurely at-the equipoise of respectability and riot.

Beyond my hearing, I saw Dennis talking earnestly to her. She was listening with a warm smile. She had settled back comfortably in her chair, slim legs crossed at the ankles and her hands clasped behind her small blonde head, and in this position her bikini-clad body was as tempting as a bowl of fresh tropical fruit.

They weren't getting along too well, I could see.

Poor Dennis, I thought, it was probably going to be pretty difficult for him to keep his mind on the road to the Snail.

I joined them and said: "Is this still a private chat?"

"Of course not, John," the Marquessa said. "In fact, I'm glad you're here. Mr. Campbell seems to hold me responsible for some trouble he's got into over the silly road that goes up to his villa."

"It's not a silly road," Dennis said coldly. "It's not any kind of road at all."

"So? Why do you blame me for that?"

"Please," Dennis said. "It's not a question of blame. It's a question of responsibility. Your responsibility."

Several guests turned and looked at us with interest.

"You needn't shout," the Marquessa said.

"I beg your pardon, I'm sorry," Dennis collected himself with an effort. "One! I leased the Snail for three months. Two! I made that arrangement because Mr. Addleby, the estate agent, told me you planned to make some repairs on the road leading to the villa. There were some other items, too, I believe, shade trees, wading ponds, a park for the children and so forth. All commendable, but hardly related to my own immediate concern, which is this: do you, or do you not, intend to build that road up to the Snail?"

"Yes, of course I do," Francesca said. She had been listening to him with her head tilted slightly and a strange little smile on her lips. "I feel it's my obligation."

"Very well," Dennis said. "I respect your attitude. But may I ask this: When do you plan to do the job?"

The Marquessa shrugged her smooth shoulders. "I haven't given that much thought, I'm afraid."

"Now see here! I admit my reasons are selfish. I can't drive to and from the Snail with the road in its present shape. And I'll confess that I was a fool to enter a business deal without some assurance that the terms could be checked by a naturally untrustworthy body of a nature balanced and delicately and demurely at-

Thank Your Lucky Stars, Its Not So

NEW YORK (AP)—Thank your lucky stars!

An official of the Hayden Planetarium dismisses as "nonsense" the predictions of Hindu astrologers that the human race will be destroyed next February.

"It's the same kind of gobbledook astrologers have been handing out for thousands of years," says James S. Pickering, assistant astronomer of the planetarium.

Astronomers — serious students of the heavenly bodies — traditionally explode like dying stars when the question of astrology comes up.

Astrologers—who try to predict the future by the stars as they move across the various constellations — traditionally note that their art is older—and consider astronomers upstarts.

In India right now Hindu priests are in the process of chanting sacred verses and offering sacrifices in an effort to avert what they consider imminent disaster.

Hindu astrologers say a catastrophe is imminent because of a forthcoming inauspicious combination of the planets in the constellation of Capricorn now approaching.

They predict things will start going from bad to worse next month, with the catastrophe itself occurring between Feb. 3 and 5. Among the prophecies of doom are world war, widespread plague and earthquakes.

Like JFK, Everybody Has Trouble

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The most comfortable feeling President Kennedy can have, as he heads into 1962 with all its troubles, is that other people have them, too. Practically everybody.

Like the Africans, for instance, and the Latins, the Asians, Premier Khrushchev, the United Nations, Congress, the Republicans and the rest of the Democrats, the high tariff people and the low tariff people.

He'll have budget troubles in 1962, and employment troubles, troubles with foreign aid and foreign allies, not to speak of foreign foes, and it's a lead-pipe cinch Fidel Castro won't contribute to his peace of mind.

And near the end of 1962, in addition to all else, Kennedy must work overtime trying in the November elections to help his Democrats keep control of Congress, for their sake and his sake, too.

All this year, perhaps because he had won the presidency by such a narrow squeak and the Democrats' control of Congress was by a narrow margin, he acted like a man who hesitated to push his luck too hard.

He'll have that same problem next year. But if the Republicans are boss of Congress in 1963 and 1964 Kennedy's last two White House years will be even more rugged and affect his own chances for re-election.

And he probably can't even guess what Khrushchev is going to be up to in 1962. But it's not a one-way street and the Russian, who acts like a man who took a course in how to be self-confident, has worries.

Khrushchev could start a war he doesn't want if he guesses wrong in pushing Kennedy. Besides, the premier has trouble in his own camp even though some of it looks ludicrous.

For tiny Albania to defy Russia is like a gnat trying to demolish an elephant with a beer bottle. This wouldn't mean much except that Red China and Russia seem to be using Albania as a substitute.

What Albania says about Russia is supposed to be really what Red China is saying about Russia. And what Russia says about Albania is what Russia is supposed to be really saying about Red China.

It's like watching a man and wife, who can't get along but are too prissy to call each other names directly, talking to each other by talking to their daughter while all three are in the same room.

If this sounds ridiculous it's no more ridiculous than some of the performances of the United Nations, which, by the way, won't be the least of Kennedy's problems.

In this world organization, which is supposed to be working for the good of mankind, 82 of the 104 nation members are seriously behind in their financial contributions.

And in this international grouping, dedicated to maintaining the peace, four of the 11 nations on the Security Council — Russia, Egypt, Ceylon and Liberia — opposed a resolution condemning India for its outright attack against Portuguese Goa.

One of Kennedy's meanest headaches in the year ahead will be trying to persuade Congress — which has plenty of high tariff people — to lower tariffs for the sake of better foreign trade.

Right now, because of the fierce task he faces on this one issue alone, Kennedy himself probably wouldn't bet he'll get his low tariff program through Congress in 1962.

Because the world gets more complex every day, more and more any one year in the life of a president is beginning to look like a fever chart in a hospital that just ran out of ice.

Louisiana Team Defeats Henderson

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Southwestern Louisiana overcame an early deficit to defeat Henderson Ark., 80-63 in the opening round nightcap of the third annual Bayou Holiday basketball classic Thursday night.

The victory put the host bulldogs into tonight's finals with powerful Kentucky Wesleyan, which downed Southeastern Louisiana 66-67 in an earlier first round game.

Larry Simon, a 6-foot-3 senior and USL's only returning starter, pumped in 26 points as the bulldogs broke in front after a nip-and-tuck 10 minutes in the opening half. USL moved into a 42-34 half time lead and then repped Henderson in the second half with ease.

Jim Heppa contributed 23 points to Henderson's losing effort.

Pine-sized Gary Auten rolled up 27 points as he led powerful Kentucky Wesleyan over Southeastern Louisiana.

Texarkana and Hope in Finals Tonight at 8

By Vince Foster
Hope Star Sports Editor

The Hope Bobcats jumped into the finals of the Hope Holiday Tournament by taking the Magnolia Panthers 40-35. They will be paired with the Texarkana Razorbacks who whipped Camden 50-34. This is the second year in a row that these two teams have met each other in the finals of this tournament, but last year the Panthers took the victory 35-31 and the Bobcats have different plans for tonight.

The Cats jumped to an early 14-7 lead in the first quarter and stretched it to 26-15 by halftime. Trailing 32-19 going into the final quarter, Magnolia only worked harder and the Cats watched their lead dwindle as Dennis sank 10 quick points for the Panthers. However, the Bobcats held on and took their sixth win of the season against only two losses to the tune of 40-35.

Texarkana completely outclassed Camden all the way and enjoyed an important 11-2 lead in the first quarter. This, however, only spurred Camden on as the going got rough for the Hogs. This quarter saw many swinging elbows and, of course many fouls too as Camden stayed up with this Big 9 team, since both squads took 14 each. But the taller Razorbacks outscored Camden 25-18 in the final half, easily winning 50-34.

Danny Hatfield and David Porterfield were high for Hope with 10 as Roberts and Powell took 6 each and Russell and Hooten sacked 4 each. Denis led Magnolia with 16. Wyatt had 10 for Camden, but the boys the Cats will have to stop is Porker Barow who sank 9 field goals and 6 free throws for 24 points to lead Texarkana.

Sparkman will meet a well matched team from Lewisville in the finals of the Girl's Division starting at 7:30 tonight. The Bobcats and Texarkana tangle at 8:45, so be sure to be on hand for these two games which promise to be thrillers.

A Closer Walk With God

Will Lead You Right Straight to Church

HAPPY NEW YEAR

... it is midnight, and the toll of the bells announce a brand New Year. It is time to begin again. God hands us 365 clean, new days and as we accept his proffer we must make valid resolutions to discharge all the responsibilities that automatically come with them. Our world is confused. Seeds of destruction are planted everywhere. It is not a time for indecision. May we resolve, right now, to get a clearer view of destiny, to understand more of the meaning and purpose of life. May we have more time for God, and somehow, may He make us realize, He is in front of all our tomorrows.

Happy New Year!
